Question: Donald Trump is counted twice as the 45th and the 47th president of the United States because he was elected to serve two non-consecutive terms. Which president is counted as both the 22nd and 24th president of the United States?

Research essays or journal topics:

- (1) Donald Trump made campaign promises to lower grocery, gas, and energy prices. Most Americans are rooting for him to be able to keep these promises. To date, are these things more affordable than they were before he took office and what has contributed to his ability or inability to keep these promises?
- (2) Another item on President Trump's agenda is to secure the border and to crack down on immigration. At the time of this writing, the president is planning mass deportations. While most Americans would support the deportation of any criminals who are here illegally, polls show that many Americans do not favor deporting immigrants who are contributing members of our society. What is the latest news on the deportation plan and what is your position on these issues?
- (3) President Trump also vowed to end the war between Russia and Ukraine that began on February 24, 2022. To date, has President Trump been successful at negotiating peace between these two countries? If yes, what did Russia and Ukraine agree to? Discuss how the war began and what role America played in the conflict.
- (4) President Trump promised that there would be no new wars during his presidency. However, in Feb. 2026, the United States and Israel launched an attack on Iran. Write about their reasons for the attack, if you feel the attack was justified, and the negative impact the war has had on the United States, on Iran, and on other countries not directly involved with the war. Note if the war has ended or is ongoing, and, if it has ended, what each side has agreed to.
